The process of development of world science, formation of spirituality of young people, improvement of quality of education and strengthening of personnel skills, the issue of reliance on philosophical knowledge and scientific worldview in formation of intellectual activity in them is being researched as an important and necessary problem not only of social and humanitarian sciences, but also of all sciences. The problem of philosophy, philosophical knowledge, scientific worldview is actively researched in the system of socio-humanistic sciences along with epistemological principles such as humanity and patriotism, explaining the need to further develop the scope of the object and subject of its study on the basis of modern methods of scientific knowledge.

As we have set ourselves the great goal of establishing the foundations of the Third Renaissance in our country, we must create the environment and conditions that will educate new Khorezms, Berunis, Ibn Sinas, Ulugbeks, Navoi and Babur. In this, first of all, development of education and training, establishment of a healthy lifestyle, promotion of science and innovation should serve as the main pillars of our national idea. On the way to this goal, creating ample opportunities for our young people to set great goals and achieve them, and providing all kinds of support, should be the top priority for all of us. Only then will our children become a great and powerful force that will realize the age-old dreams of our people.

History has always taught us that it is impossible not to worry about the spiritual maturity of the young generation, who is the foundation of our future today and in the future. These processes are related to the use of the spiritual heritage of ancestors and the direct effective activity of today's educational and training processes. This tells us that we are all equally responsible for the spiritual growth of young people. Spiritual perfection, in turn, is the main criterion for raising the young generation to be patriotic, loyal to the country, humanitarian, compassionate, disciplined, honoring the pride of the nation, preserving the traditions and scientific heritage of our great ancestors, morally pure people.

Today, along with the positive scientific situations, some negative problems are also accumulating on the world scale. In most of the countries of the world, while science and enlightenment are progressing and developing, war and conflicts are increasing in some countries, spiritual poverty, environmental problems, hunger and dehydration, and various diseases are affecting not only the development of one's own country, but also the development of other countries. is in danger. The reforms being carried out in the field of education in our country show how important it is to prevent these problems.

The issue of raising young people, who are the future of our country's development, to become fully mature and morally perfect people is in the center of attention as a strategic issue of our country. Taking into account that the majority of the population of Uzbekistan is made up of young people under 30 years of age, it is one of the urgent issues of today to raise this young generation as a fully mature person, to be able to compete with the youth of developed countries.

It is emphasized that the first important issue is the liberalization of all spheres of the political life of our country, the construction of the state and society. We have a lot of traditions and eternal traditions that have been passed down from our ancestors to develop the spiritual and moral education of the younger generation. It is expedient to widely use this heritage of ours today to educate the young generation in a spiritually perfect manner. Because we should always keep in mind that the future of our country depends on how our young generation matures and what spiritual qualities they grow up with, how they actively treat them, and what higher goals they serve.

The work being carried out on the reform of the education system in our republic is aimed at the same goal. After all, from an ideological point of view, this issue is absolutely consistent with the principles of the newly revised Law of the Republic of Uzbekistan on Education. Ideological harmony based on the modern educational system and national heritage means the need to rely on the spiritual and educational grounds of the national heritage in the educational process.

From this point of view, the rich spiritual legacy created by our great ancestors, scholars and thinkers over the centuries has not lost its importance in educating the young generation in the spirit of perfection. Today, it is very important to inculcate feelings and concepts related to parents, family and community, historical memory, national pride, perfect human upbringing in the hearts and minds of the young generation through effective methods.

First of all, the importance of raising our spiritual and educational activities to a high level is incomparably great, so that the growing young generation matures in every way perfect, willing, with a pure conscience. It is desirable to organize.

In the place where great scholars and thinkers, saints and saints come from, first of all, centers of knowledge, culture and spirituality should be developed. A great civilization will never arise in an empty place. It is strictly required that every person carefully, honors, respects, carefully studies the values created by his ancestors and contemporaries, uses them creatively and critically, enriches them in terms of content, and polishes them in form.

At the same time, there are also political forces and movements that seek to expand their sphere of influence through ideological means. Therefore, today, in order to restore the national image, national spirit and national pride of our people, we need to study and instill in the young generation the ancient customs, history, culture, art, behavior and moral views of the people.

"At this point, it is appropriate to mention the following thoughts of our president: "We will raise young people to become independent and logically thinking people, possessing noble qualities, based on modern knowledge and experience, national and universal values".

After all, no nation can respect the values of other nations without realizing its identity, preserving its national culture and national values. The strength of independent Uzbekistan lies in the loyalty of our people to universal values. Our people have been carefully preserving the tender buds of justice, equality, and humanity for centuries to the next generation. The supreme goal of the renewal of Uzbekistan is to restore these traditions, to give them a new meaning, to create the necessary conditions for peace, prosperity, culture, freedom of conscience and the development of everyone in our land. Learning universal and national values of young people and teaching them to respect them will determine how our values will be valued in the future.

The most important and urgent task of ours today is "... to develop the members of our society, first of all, the young generation, to awaken in their hearts a national idea, a national ideology, a sense of loyalty to their Motherland, to realize their identity, and to educate them in the spirit of national and universal values " Today's youth should be spiritually well-educated specialists, lovers of their people, and show deep knowledge of our national values.
